SPORTING DEATH LIST NOT LONG

Only Sixty Deaths Recorded This Year.

NAMES OF UNFORTUNATES

William C. Whitney, Chip McGarr, Shorty Fuller, and Caesar Young Most Prominent.

The unusual number of deaths on the baseball field this year has in this respect established a record for the season of 1904 that has never been equaled. Nine men have been killed while at the national sport, and the mest remarkable part of all is that two of them were killed by lightning one day apart heretofore been a rarity on the ball ception. Two players were struck while playing in the South not long ago, but were not seriously injured. This makes four lightning victims altogether, the other two being in the East, and both

Two accidents of the year occurred in Pennsylvania, one at Indiana and the other at Cherry Hill. In the first Grove Thomas, a Cincinnati boy, was hit by a ball during play and instantly killed. Hiram Williams met a similar death in the other. The saddest feature of both accidents was that the young wives of the players were witnesses to their hus-

Eleven Natural Deaths.

The men who met natural deaths in The men who met natural deaths in baseball this year number eleven, Probably the most noted of all was James (Chip) McGarr, who died in an insane asylum at Worcester, Mass., on June 6. He was an old-time National League player, and was known throughout the United States. Another of the best-United States. Another of the best-known players that passed to the great beyond was Ben (Shorty) Fuller, former-ly shortstop for the New Yorks. There were two suicides recorded. Hugh Higgens, a well-known amateur player of Louisville, killed nimself on March 16. Dan Mahaney took his own life at Sprinfield, Mass., on January 31.

In the turf worlds the most prominent men to leave this earth were William

C. Whitney, who died in New York city off the effects of an operation on Jaruary 29, and J. Malcolm Forbes, who died on his estate at Milton, Mass., on February 19. Others of note were Senator J. S. O'Brien, of Stillwater, Minn, C. E. Jeffers, the Louisville horseman, who was in partnership with Johnny Fay, and David Nagle, an old-time California horseman.

In the harness world death claimed George Fuller, known far and wide as a reinsman; Sam Morelan? "Covington, and Uncle Billy Hughes, of Sedalle, Mo. C. Whitney, who died in New York cit;

Jockey Succumbs.

The best-known jockey to die this season was Andy Hamilton. He died in France on February 1. Hamilton was born in this country, and, although in the minds of the general public, he having been found dead in a carriage, seated beside Nan Patterson, an actress, on Saturday, June 5.

The most conspicuous figure to be taken from the boxing world by death was James E. Kennedy, the New York promoter of athletic sports. He died April 29. Tommy Warren was the only boxer of prominence to die since the first of the year. There have been three deaths in the prize ring, but none of the victims were known outside their home city, and, like all cases of this kind, their deaths were due to lack of training and not from punishment dealt "TRAIN CATARRH" IN AMERICA, Train catarrh has as yet no name i America or anywhere else, but here is its christening. The present writer has lately spent four nights in sleeping berths on American trains, and the has spent many other nights on Continental trains. Always there has resulted the catarrh, produced, one may presume, by change of temperature and dust. Many travelers have suffered in the same way. What do the doctors says about this form of diesease?—London Chronicle.

BARTHOLDPS ART.

The late sculptor Bartholdi was best known in this country by his statue of Liberty, the chief feature of which is its size. Its artistic merits were succinctly summed up by a distinguished foreigner when sailing into New York harbor. Pointing to the gigantic figure he asked: "Is that Liberty?"

"Yes," said a bystander.

"Then give me death," said the foreigner, who evidently knew his Patrick Henry.—Boston Herald.

A PRETENSE OF KNOWLEDGE. "I hate to see a man pretend to know more than he actually does," said the habitually severe man.

"So do I," said the unassuming friend; "so do I, Said the unassuming friend;
"so do I. But when your wife insists on having you read the war news out aloud and the children are sitting around listening, what are you going to do when you come to all these Japanese and Russian names?"—Exchange
